Harry Potter™

The Magic is Building

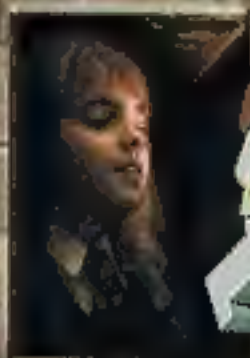

Harry Potter™

Harry Potter thought he was just an average boy, until he received an invitation to enrol at Hogwarts. There he learns the truth about his parents and himself: magic runs in the family! Now he's making new friends, confronting powerful foes, and learning to be the greatest wizard of them all!

Ron Weasley™

Ron is one of Harry's best friends. Ron isn't as good with magic as Harry, but he's always ready to help when there's trouble.

Hermione Granger™

Hermione is another good friend of Harry's. She can usually be found with her nose in a book of spells or a history of wizardry.

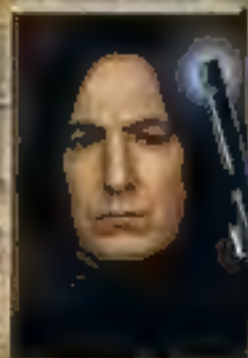

Hagrid™

Hagrid is the Keeper of the Keys and Grounds at Hogwarts. Though he looks fierce, he is actually a friend to Harry. Hagrid loves animals, and has always wanted a dragon as a pet.

Professor Albus Dumbledore™

Dumbledore is a wise and powerful wizard and the headmaster of Hogwarts School. He has been a great help to Harry on a number of occasions.

Professor Snape™

Professor Severus Snape teaches Potions at Hogwarts and is the head of Slytherin House. He doesn't like Harry and does his best to make life difficult for him.

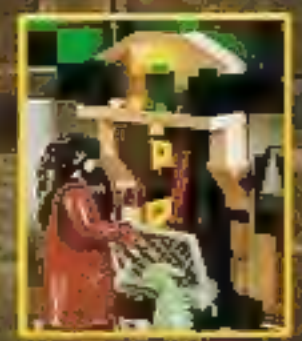

Press a button to toss the luggage out of the train.

4708 HOGWARTS EXPRESS

You're invited to Platform Nine and Three-Quarters to board the Hogwarts Express! Make sure you have your wand, your spellbook, and all your other school supplies ready for the trip to Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry. (Turn the page and get a magical sneak peek of Hogwarts!)

4707 HAGRID'S HUT

Hagrid's Hut is on the edge of the Dark Forest, and it's one of Harry's favourite places to visit. Along with Hagrid, you'll discover Professor Dumbledore there and Norbert the Norwegian Ridgeback Dragon.

Spin the fireplace to spot Norbert the dragon.

Harry Potter

First years can expect to learn wizardry skills including how to make objects levitate.

After you disembark from the Hogwarts Express, boats will take you the rest of the way to Hogwarts Castle.

You're sure to make many new friends at Hogwarts, like Harry Potter and Ron Weasley.

Although he was expelled as a student years ago, Hagrid still serves Hogwarts as Keeper of Keys and Grounds.

Headmaster Dumbledore is always available to provide wise advice to new students.

A baby Norwegian Ridgeback Dragon hides inside Hagrid's Hut.

Professor Snape teaches Potions here — keep an eye out for secret hiding places.

MEET DANIEL RADCLIFFE!

Eleven year old Daniel Radcliffe is living a young actor's dream – playing Harry Potter in the upcoming movie Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone. When he's not acting, he's a fan of Fulham Football Club and Formula One Racing. Daniel answered questions about the world of Harry Potter and the new movie:

Q: Were you a fan of the Harry Potter books before you got the part?

A: I had read the first two, but at that stage in my life, I didn't really like reading. Then after I got the part I read all four of the books back to back. I even read the second twice because that is my favourite, and they helped me to branch off onto other books like stepping stones. I am quite a big reader now.

Q: Harry Potter is a worldwide phenomenon. Why do you think it is such a huge success with adults and children?

A: Because it is such an original idea. And it's never been done before, I think. And it's magic... and just the ideas that JK Rowling came up with are amazing.

Q: Other than magic, what makes the character of Harry so endearing to the world?

A: The character of Harry jumps off the page at you. And he's so real... I can think of a few boys like him. People can relate to him in whichever way because there's so many elements to Harry that make him so likeable.

Q: How do you think you are like Harry?

A: I think I'm very determined. I think I am also loyal, and think that if some of my friends got in trouble I'd stand up for them.

Q: Why do you think people will want to see the film version?

A: I think that anybody who has read the books will want to see if the film is how they've imagined it to be and if all the characters and their personalities are how they imagined it. And the movie is so true to the books and the story, I think they will be very surprised and happy.

TRICK or TREAT!

For 2 or more players. It's Halloween, and the International Football team are ready to do some trick or treating! Their team bus has just pulled into Jack Stone's hometown, and now it's time for costumes and candy!

Instructions: To play, you'll need two or more of your favourite mini-figures, a six-sided dice (like the ones used in most board games), and some LEGO bricks.

Players place their mini-figures on "Start." Each player rolls the dice, and the player with the highest number goes first. On each turn, a player rolls the dice, moves the number of spaces, and follows any instructions on the board. The player who finishes the game with most LEGO brick treats is the winner!

Father, Son Team Up to

LEGO

BUILDERS

Nick Marinelli, 11, and his father, Dave, got to take a sneak peek at the new Robotics Invention System 2.0. After building two cool robots that can communicate with each other, they're ready for more!

The nice thing about RIS is that you can build a model and get it to do different things," said Dave. "We plan to play with it more."

RIS is designed to let you build and program your own robotic creations, and Nick felt 2.0 was an improvement over Robotics Invention System version 1.1. "It's mainly more interesting because it has more features, and it was easy to do."

Father and son worked together to build a robot fisherman and a fish, which took "about an hour or two", according to Nick.

Following their test build, Dave had high praise for the new set. "I think it's a real nice toy... it teaches the basics of programming and building. There are models for every age group." "I have three kids, 11, 13, and 15. They've all built models with it."

Nick and Dave built this original model on their own!
